TYPES OF financial aid

The Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) can be filed starting October 1 - available at: www.fafsa.gov. Make sure you complete it before the March 2 priority filing deadline. Based on your FAFSA and other information you submit, the Financial Aid Office will determine your eligibility for a variety of funding options, including scholarships, grants, work-study programs and loans. AB 540 eligible students who are not U.S. citizens or permanent residents can apply for aid via the Dream Act application. International students are not eligible for university, state, or federal financial aid. We urge international students to research scholarship opportunities from private organizations both within the US and your home country.

The UCLA Scholarship Resource Center is available to help you identify scholarships for which you are qualified. Other resources including community service organizations in your hometown, faith-based groups and your college career/college counseling center are options to explore. We also encourage you to initiate a search for additional scholarship resources via the internet. Online searches will reveal various websites and databases dedicated to helping you locate the best scholarship opportunities. For information about searching for UCLA scholarships and other outside scholarships, please review our Scholarship Resource Center website at: www.scholarshipcenter.ucla.edu.

Also available to California residents are the UC Blue and Gold Opportunity Plan and the Middle Class Scholarship Program (MCSP). These both qualify as grants, which are rewards that the recipient does not have to repay. These are mostly awarded based on need and require submission of the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) or the California Dream Act application by March 2nd.

ADMISSION AND SELECTION

UCLA has a long tradition of academic and research excellence, so it's no surprise that academics are an important part of our transfer admission and selection criteria. We encourage you to meet with your counselor for individual advising and to review our Transfer Admission Guide (www.admission.ucla.edu/transfer) for specific requirements. At a minimum, you must satisfy the following four requirements:

- 1 Complete 60 semester or 90 quarter units of UC-transferable college credit (junior-level standing)
- 2 Complete the UC 7-course pattern (2 English composition, 1 math, 4 electives). Students are encouraged to take required English and math courses as early as possible.
- 3 Complete a significant amount of lower-division major preparation for your intended major
- 4 Maintain a GPA of at least 3.2 in all transferable courses. Note that applicants for highly selective majors should present a strong GPA in order to be competitive for admission.

For California Community College Students, ASSIST (www.assist.org) provides detailed information on transferable courses, major prep requirements, and course articulation.

OTHER FACTORS

In addition to required academic preparation, UCLA also evaluates all non-academic and out-of-classroom achievements, including, but not limited to:

- employment
- family responsibilities
- military service
- honors & awards
- extracurricular activities
- volunteer work
- the student's experiences
