WELCOME TO CAMPUS!

Our campus overflows with the energy and activity of student life. If you’re here on a weekend or holiday, you may see UCLA in a calmer state. Still, walking around will give you a firsthand idea of how it might feel to be a student at UCLA. Enjoy your visit.

CENTRAL CAMPUS

All visitors should see UCLA’s historic core and Bruin Plaza, center of student life

1. Luskin Conference Center provides event space and guest rooms in a landmark campus location.

2. At the north end of Pauley Pavilion is the statue of legendary basketball coach John Wooden. Basketball, volleyball and gymnastics teams compete here.

3. Bruin Plaza is the home of The Bruin statue, our mascot. Here you can see some of the key student services locations: Wooden Center for recreation, Ashe Center for health and wellness, Student Activities Center for the LGBT Center and other resources.

4. Bruin Walk is the major east-west pedestrian route, bustling with student groups. The 42 Statue honors alumnus Jackie Robinson. On your right is Ackerman Union and the UCLA Store. Just next door is Kerckhoff Hall, hub of student activities and home to student government and the Daily Bruin.

5. The Powell Library Building houses the primary undergraduate library — College Library — with study space, computer labs and multimedia classrooms. On the second floor, you’ll see the beautiful main reading room and the rotunda.

6. Janss Steps and Shapiro Fountain provide a great view of the intramural fields and The Hill, where undergraduate students live.

7. Royce Hall is home to many language and literature departments. But often, “Royce” is shorthand for the main auditorium. You might attend a student culture night here, or watch a concert, dance or theater event.

NORTH CAMPUS

For students who plan to major in the humanities, social sciences or the arts

1. Kaplan Hall is the home of the English department and Near Eastern Languages and Cultures. Arabic, Armenian and Hebrew are three of the 40+ languages taught at UCLA.

2. The Herb Alpert School of Music has a library, theater, rehearsal rooms and recording studios in Schoenberg Music Building and Ostin Music Center.

3. Bunche Hall, home of social sciences, was named for alumnus Ralph Bunche ‘27, a United Nations diplomat and the first person of color to win the Nobel Peace Prize.

4. See the Research Commons in Charles E. Young Research Library — high-tech collaborative spaces for classes and study groups, digital humanities.

5. Broad Art Center is home to the visual arts, part of the School of the Arts and Architecture.

6. The Sculpture Garden is an outdoor museum and a favorite spot for study and relaxation. At the north edge is the School of Theater, Film and Television.

SOUTH CAMPUS

For students who plan to major in the sciences

1. If you major in physics, astrophysics or biophysics, you’ll spend your time in the Physics and Astronomy Building and in neighboring Knudsen Hall.

2. The Math Sciences Building has a planetarium on its roof. Just east is Franz Hall, home of psychology.

3. The open plaza to the south is the Court of Sciences. The layout lends itself to collaboration: engineering, physical and life sciences, and health sciences.

4. Boelter Hall is the oldest part of the Henry Samueli School of Engineering and Applied Science. Pedestrian bridges connect the newer Engineering IV, V and VI.

5. CNSI, the multidisciplinary California NanoSystems Institute, is next to La Kretz Hall — home of the environmental science major.

6. The Court of Sciences Student Center has a sustainable rooftop garden.

The health sciences campus, including the School of Nursing, is just south of the Court of Sciences.

“THE HILL” – RESIDENTIAL LIFE

The undergraduate residential community

1. Head uphill on Bruin Walk West, passing the intramural fields on your right.

2. Straus (Tennis) Stadium is on the left; Drake (Track) Stadium with Marshall Field (soccer) is on the right.

3. Almost 100% of freshmen and many transfers choose to live on The Hill, creating a true residential community. De Neve Plaza anchors eight residence halls with tree and flower names, from A for Acacia to H for Holly.

4. Sproul Landing and Sproul Cove opened in 2013. The ballroom has a dramatic view of campus.

5. Bruin Café is one of the quick-service restaurants. Stop in for a snack, or just make yourself comfortable at an outdoor table. Look up to see the Rieber and Hedrick complexes higher on The Hill, and the umbrellas marked “MCMXIX” at Café 1919, named for UCLA’s founding year.

6. Covel Commons is the anchor for Sunset Village — the north end of The Hill. Beyond it is the Sunset Canyon Recreation Center, with pools, sand volleyball, picnic tables and community garden spaces.

Campus Shuttle and Accessibility

On school days, there are free Bruin Bus shuttles serving the campus. Step aboard to find a brochure with the latest shuttle routes.

Note that there are handicapped-access parking spots across the campus, and ramps paralleling Bruin Walk and other pedestrian routes. Look for blue placards that identify accessible entrances and elevators.

UCLA Milestones and Fun Facts

OLYMPICS AND PRESIDENTIAL DEBATE

During the summer of 1984, the residence halls became an Olympic village. Gymnastic competitions were held in Pauley Pavilion, tennis at the Los Angeles Tennis Center. Four years later, Pauley hosted the Bush-Dukakis presidential debate. Plans for the 2028 Olympics in L.A. also show the residence halls as the athletes’ village.

CIVIL RIGHTS GIANTS

Martin Luther King Jr. spoke at the base of Janss Steps in April 1965; a plaque commemorates his speech. In October 1972, César E. Chávez addressed students; UCLA’s Department of Chicana/o Studies bears his name.
